Hucksters and the Door Bells

To the Editor of The Evening Star.

May I have the ear of the ever-obliging Stan for complaint of a nuisance which our female citizens, with female fortitude, endure because It seems to be a case of "what can't be cured must be endured." I refer to the many times a day ringing of one's door bell by street hucksters. We employ servants to do the housework and not to wait on hucksters. Oftentimes, however, many of us are not fortunate our patience undergoes. Some time since belieg in such a predicament mivelf and completely prostrated by chilis at the same time I would, after getting the older children off to book at the noon hour, retire with the baby or much-needed rest. the demands of the situation required that cases in that time there were 552 cases of diphtheria and 385 cases of scarlet fever reported. Personal inspection was made in every instance and the warning cards required by the law were properly placed and continued there the requi-site time. Out of the 552 cases of diphtheria site time. Out of the 552 cases of diphtheria there were 177 fatal terminations. These figures give a percentage of 32.6 deaths to the number of cases. Of these 406 were white and only 146 colored. In the matter of scarlet fever there were 385 cases, of which 350 were white and 35 colored. Out of the total number there were 32 deaths, making a percentage of 9.9 loss. It will be a matter of scientific interest to note the great preponderance of the white element over the colored in regard to attack by these maladies. And inaddition thereto it may be noted that neither of these dis cases referred to occurred in all sections of the District, and in the most elegant streets and avenues as well as in the narrow allevs or slums. Each one attacks the young in preference to adults. The very few elderly persons who contracted either of them generally succumbed.

I have found the requirements of the law and the regulations in reference thereto easy to be end in view. One purpose is the complete isolation of the patient, even to the prevention of public funerals. The firm insistence of the office that diphtheria and scarlet fever patients should be placed in as complete state of isola-tion as possible no doubt, in my opinion, saved this community from an epidemic of diphtheria in September and October, 1891, when the disease threatened to break over all bounds and invade the city. Therefore I have no recommendations to make." THE ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

THE FRATERNAL CONGRESS. After Electing Officers the Convention Adjourns.

The National Fraternal Congress, which had been in session for three days, concluded its work and adjourned yesterday afternoon. During the course of the day the most important matter before the congress was discussed and acted upon. This was the report of the committee appointed to devise a general law for all states regarding the formation of fraternal beneficiary organizations. In the proposed law reported yesterday the distinctive features of a fraternal beneficiary corporation are declared to be, first, a lodge system with ritualistic form of work; second, a representative form of government; third, fraternal assistance to the liv-ing members when sick or in distress; fourth, organize, and it was decided to appoint a comproviding for payments of benefits to living members for total and physical disability; and fifth, providing for the payment of benefits upon the death of members to their families, heirs, blood relatives or persons dependent upon them. In the afternoon the following were elected and installed officers for the ensuing year: President, M. G. Jeffris, Wisconsin: vice president, N. S. Boynton, Michigan Charities, was held at their office, 8121/2 19th and secretary and treasurer, O. M. Shedd, New York. Mr. A. Warnock, the retiring president, the place of Judge Cox, the president. The life member of the organization.

Democrats Advised to Go Slow The London Times, commenting on the speeches of Depew and Reid at the New York chamber of commerce banquet on Tuesday night, says: "The eagerness of the defeated party to abrogate the McKinley law is in itself sufficient to inspire the victors with caution. Mr. Cleveland has other and better reasons for Mr. Cieveiand has other and better reasons for delay. The McKinley tariff enlists the support of a powerful body of capitalists and numbers of workingmen, and although their forces were vanquished by the overpowering movement of public opinion, it is not desirable to make their defeat too painful and ruinous. A change from the most monstrous absurdities of McKinleyism to something like an endurable tariff will be slow and tentative; but it cannot be long postponed, nor can it be restricted within narrow bounds."

Prices for New York Real Estate. One of the most important sales of real estate in New York city consummated for a long time has just been concluded by the signing of the papers for the property known as Nos. 100, 102 and 104 Broadway and No. 1 Pine street. This property was owned by the Continental Fire Insurance Company. The purchasers are the American Security Company, now having offices at No. 160 Broadway, who intend to remodel the building for their own purposes. The price paid is about the highest yet given for a parcel of Broadway property, not including a corner. The figures are $1,040,000 for an area of 5,883 square feet, or at the rate per square foot of $176.43.

supreme court to award him $20,000 damages to be paid by a New York boniface because he refused to let the baron eat in his hotel. The noble plaintiff is Chevalier Bernard Francis Seraph de Grunebaum. The defendant is Proprietor S. L. Hoyt of the Hotel Victoria. The baron is well known along upper Broadway. In his complaint Chevalier de Grunebann states that on October 30 he felt inclined for luncheon and entered the hotel; he had ample cash for all his needs, but the waiters preserved a distant air, and when he succeeded in compelling attendance from one the waiter de lined to even intrust him with a menu. The baron approached the cashier and requeste sustenance. The only reply he could obtain was that the cashier had been instructed not to allow the baron to be served, for office reasons.

The baron then addressed Proprietor Hoyt in writing, asking why he had been subjected to such treatment. Mr. Hoyt answered in a for mal letter, explaining that he had issu order in compliance with the request of several patrons, who, without offering any explanation, insisted that a choice must be made between the baron's custom and theirs.
